Comments:

Strong Opposition to Proposed Sewage Holding System To Whom It May Concern, As a concerned resident of Hockessin, I am writing to express my vehement opposition to the proposed sewage holding system by Drake McNish Cattermole. It is appalling that Mr. Cattermole proceeded with construction without obtaining the necessary permits and approvals, showing a blatant disregard for our community's regulations and values. Hockessin, nestled near Ashland and Mt. Cuba, prides itself on preserving our natural landscapes and fostering a close-knit community. The actions of Mr. Cattermole have directly contradicted these principles. Not only was there a lack of community notice regarding this development, but now there are plans to install two large sewage holding tanks. This irresponsible decision threatens to pollute our environment, including our precious wildlife and delicate wetlands. It is particularly disheartening that this comes shortly after the positive news of Pettinaro's generous donation of 30 acres to New Castle County. Such contributions underscore our commitment to conservation and responsible development. In stark contrast, Mr. Cattermole's actions are an offense to our community and an insult to the residents who cherish our area's natural beauty. I urge the relevant authorities to reject this proposal outright. We cannot afford to compromise the environmental integrity that Hockessin has worked tirelessly to uphold. Our collective efforts must continue to focus on sustainable practices and thoughtful growth that respects both our community and our environment. Thank you for considering the concerns of a dedicated resident who wishes to see Hockessin thrive in harmony with its surroundings. Lastly, humanity reflects on it's leaders. As a nation we are failing. Profit overrides humanity. The wildlife, and community, need you to speak up! Protect the wetlands, community, and everything Hockessin represents. We do not want to be overrun by housing developers and their repercussions, such as sewage tanks. Please preserve what Hockessin has fought so hard for - a safe and honest community for humans and wildlife. Sincerely, Kristine Baney
