The crossroads at which we stand, Data Centers should never be "by-right" or created without full disclosure, public input, environmental or human protections in place.

States who have had these centers built without protections are facing air, water and noise pollution in addition to higher utility bills and overstatement of jobs created.

Delaware, as many states, faces and affordable housing crisis. Why not use these sites and create housing for residents (if they are deemed clean sites). Infrastructure already exists.

These are my thoughts. I am opposed to data centers as they stand at this time.
