Subject: Zero-Emissions Policies

I must state that I admire your attempt to force the citizens of Delaware to follow along with zero-emissions by forcing electric cars on us.

Vehicles that aren't ready to compete with fossil-fueled vehicles.

Vehicles that are priced way too high for average people.

Vehicles that like to catch on fire while charging.

Instead of letting the market push gas-powered vehicles out like cars did with the horse and buggy, you are attempting to regulate in place.

People can barely afford to live now, let alone maintain a car correctly. (In my area, we have a least 6 trucks that "rolling coal" crap right through town.)
