To say EVs are good for Delaware is to say I care not at all for the people of Delaware. This is wrong on so many levels, I hardly know where to start. First, Delaware is not California and nothing should be linked to their actions in California. If you care about the environment, tell me how rare minerals are mined and then used in the manufacture of batteries—and then their disposal. Tell me how our current or future electrical grid can support the number of EVs you propose to have being sold in just two years. It goes on and on...

Please show me a comprehensive study which show this to be a good idea?

Best regards, phil
