I'm writing to express my opposition to banning sale/use of gas powered vehicles. As a retiree, I live on a fixed income and cannot guarantee that I will be able to afford an electric vehicle. I live in an old farmhouse served by DEC and don't have service to charge one. The impact of production of alternative energy sources has not been published so it may not necessarily be advantageous to the environment. It would make more sense to shift to smaller vehicles as they did in the 70s. Please remember that this is Delaware. California seems to have many across the board issues that we handle better so why would we follow them?
