Subject: Please Don't Try To Be Like California

It cost more to the environment in safety problems, recycling, maintenance, and disposal of high cell batteries. Plus what average taxpayer can afford these vehicles? The drain on the national and state power grids is/will be unreal. What happens in a State Evacuation Emergency when these overpriced golf carts run out of power and are jaming up Evacuation Highways? AAA won't be able to help them. Let California with its overpriced, over regulated everything collapses on it's own. Delaware doesn't want to become California.
