To whom it may concern I understand Delaware wants to go with all electric cars. Number one you don't have the electrical grid for it. Number two people cannot afford the electrical cars. A lot of people in Delaware are retired on fixed incomes. Therefore they cannot afford $100,000 car. I am 80 years old and I have a gas car and a diesel truck and I am not going to get rid of either for an electric vehicle that I cannot afford. They can throw me in jail if they want. C Rossiter
