Only the rich can afford an electric vehicle!!!
Also, doesn't it require a special outlet to plug into to charge at home.

Too many FIRE incidents, new batteries are very expensive, where are you going to dispose of all the batteries???!??!

It's just plain stupid to even bring up this issue when the wealthy are flying all over the world (are their planes running on SUN & WIND)???!??!

Plus, there's no way there would be enough public transportation for people to travel where they need to go (nor would they want to travel public transit - something known as CRIME is a huge problem in this country in case you haven't heard.
